Dear Kenny,

Had lots of fun this summer (don't work too hard). It was sure great having you next to me in Study Hall. P.E. would not have been anything without you. May you always have the best of everything.

Love,
Betty

Dear Penny,
Let's drink to the end of another happy(?) year. We'll have a tremendous time at my home tonight.

Penny:
Have a real nice summer. Lots of luck in your future years at R.B. I'll see you this summer.
Phil.

Penny,
You a sweet girl & wish the best of everything. I wish that we could be together some classes in some classes. Still there's time. Please stay as sweet as you are.
Love always,
Joyce

P.S. Have fun on your trip!

Penny,
Well, I don't think we'd survive Miss Wilkins but we did! Good luck in the two years and in all the rest happy years ahead of R.B.
Love
Sue

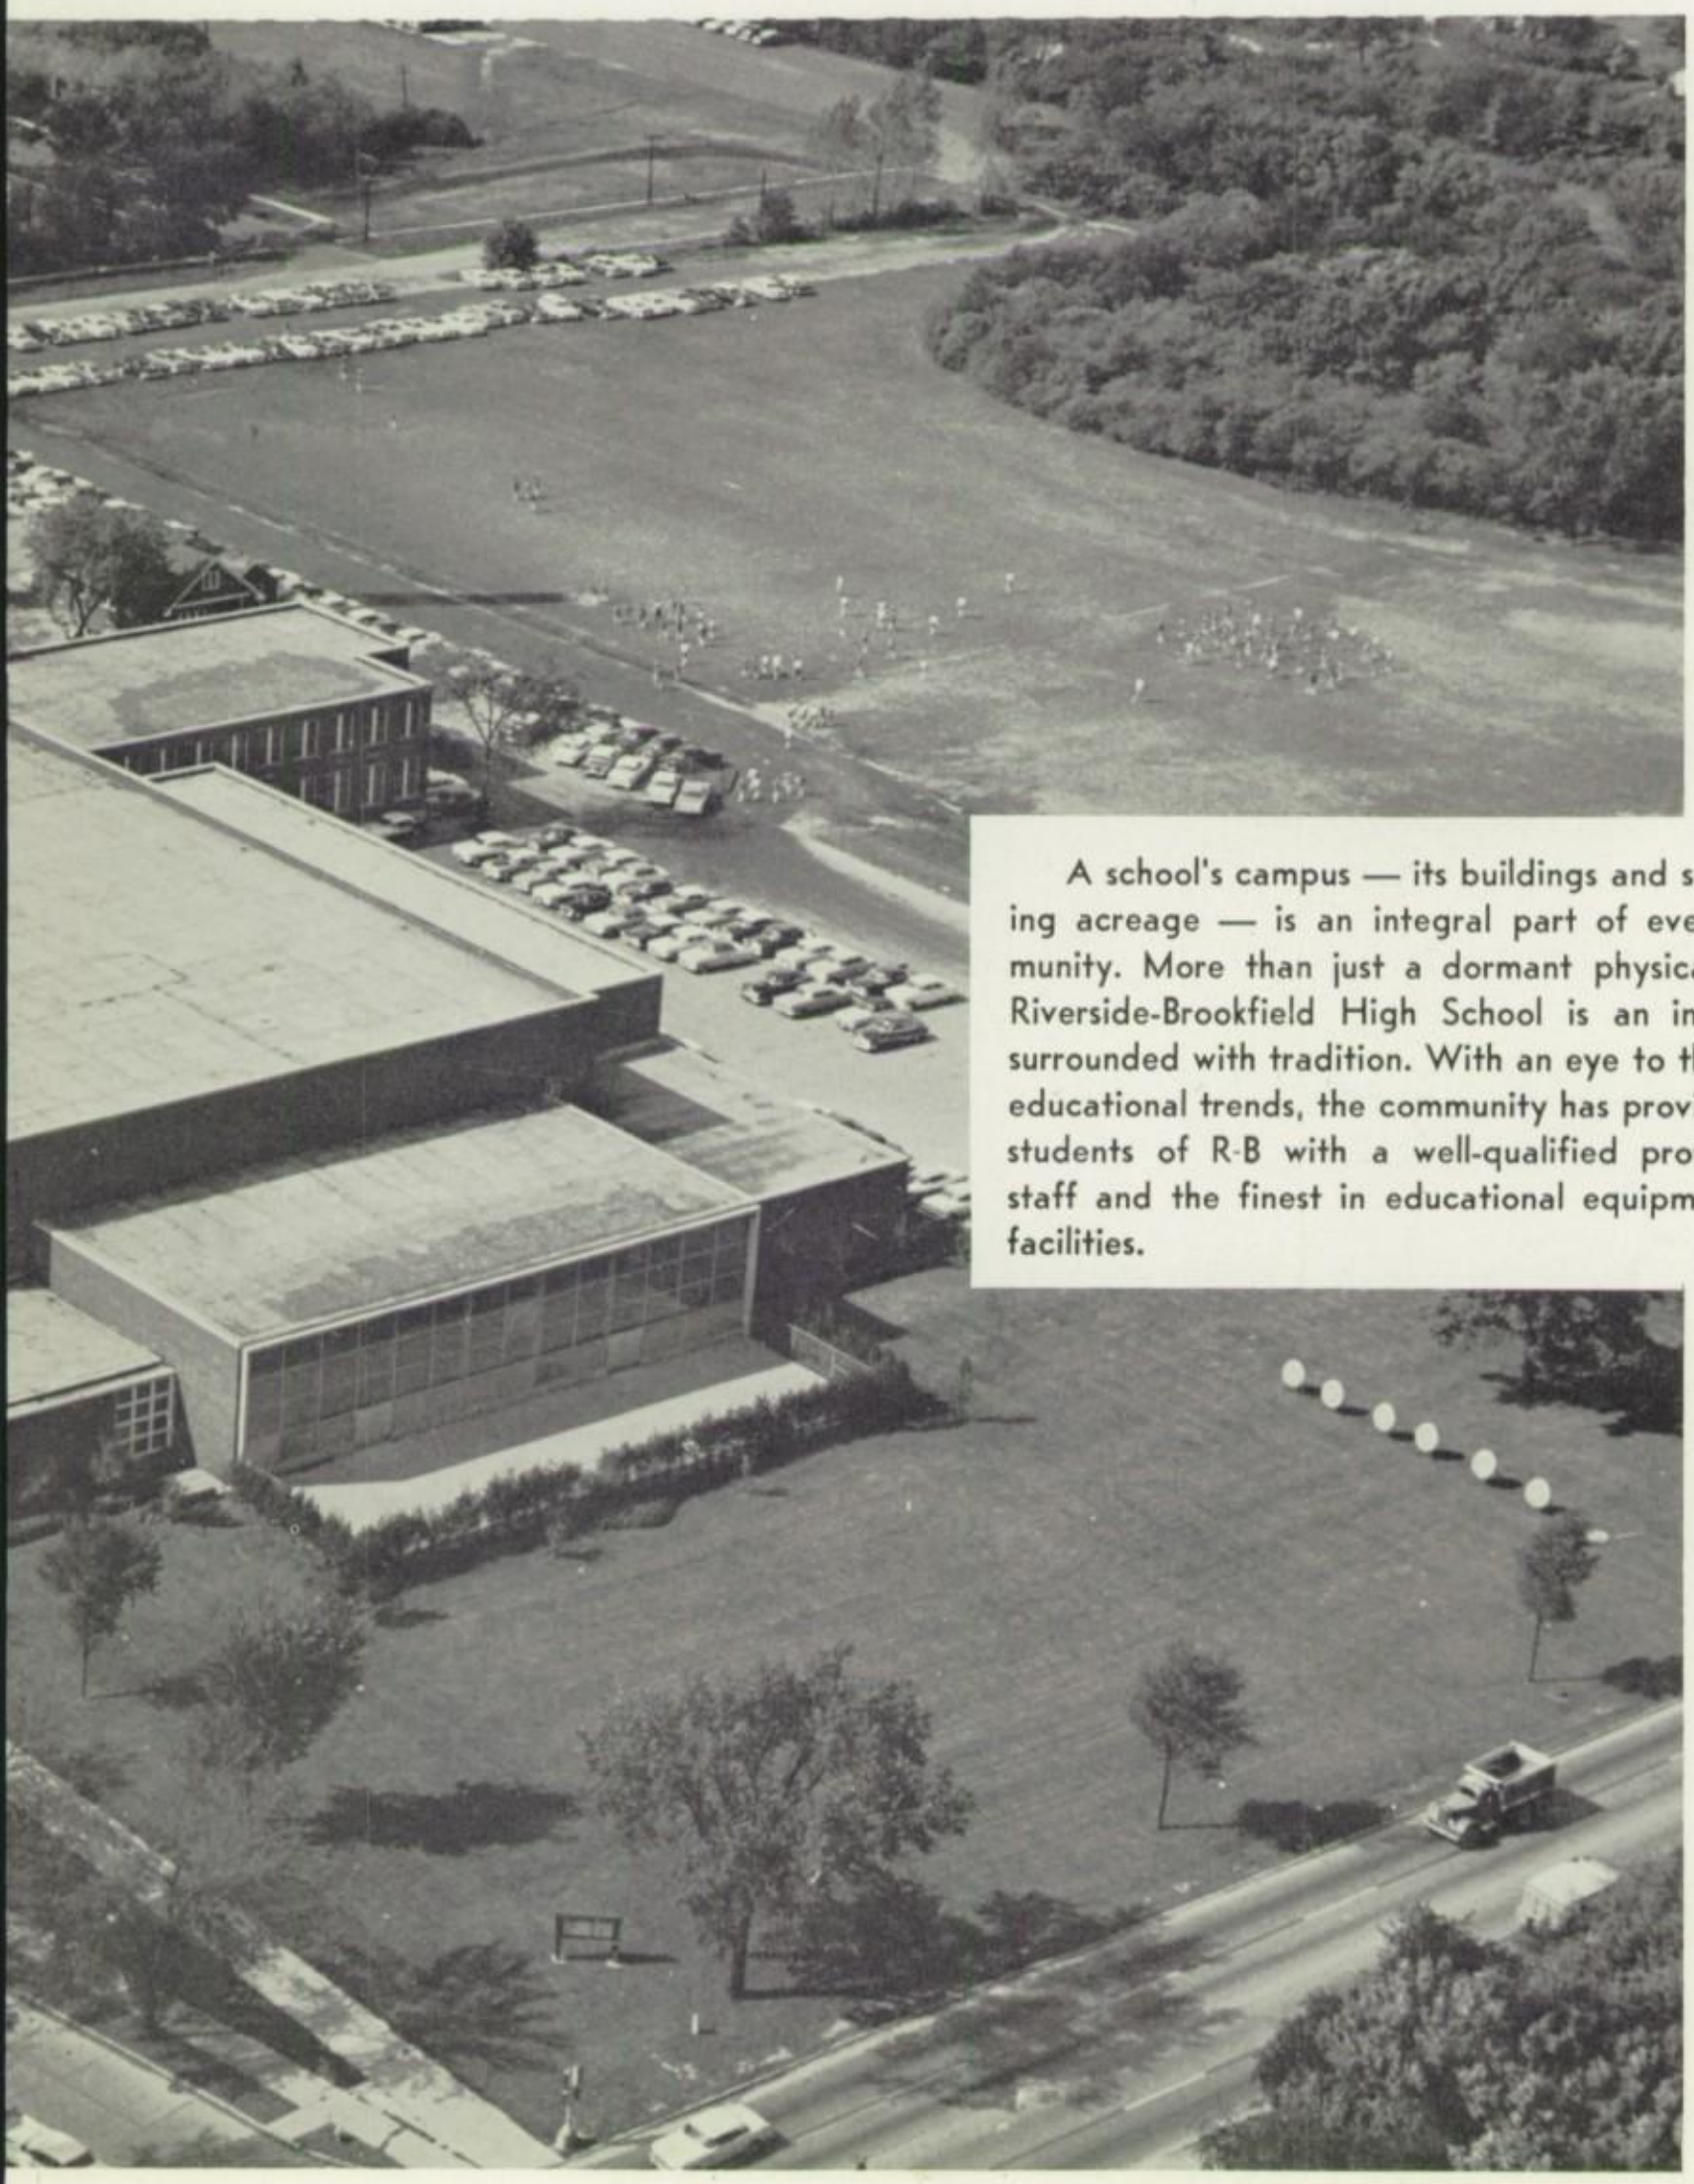
At night, when a hush has fallen over R-B, the lonely footsteps of a solitary custodian send their resounding echo through the deserted halls. But during the course of each busy school day hundreds upon thousands of footsteps reverberate throughout the corridors and classrooms. The building is alive, echoing the varied footsteps of each student, each teacher.

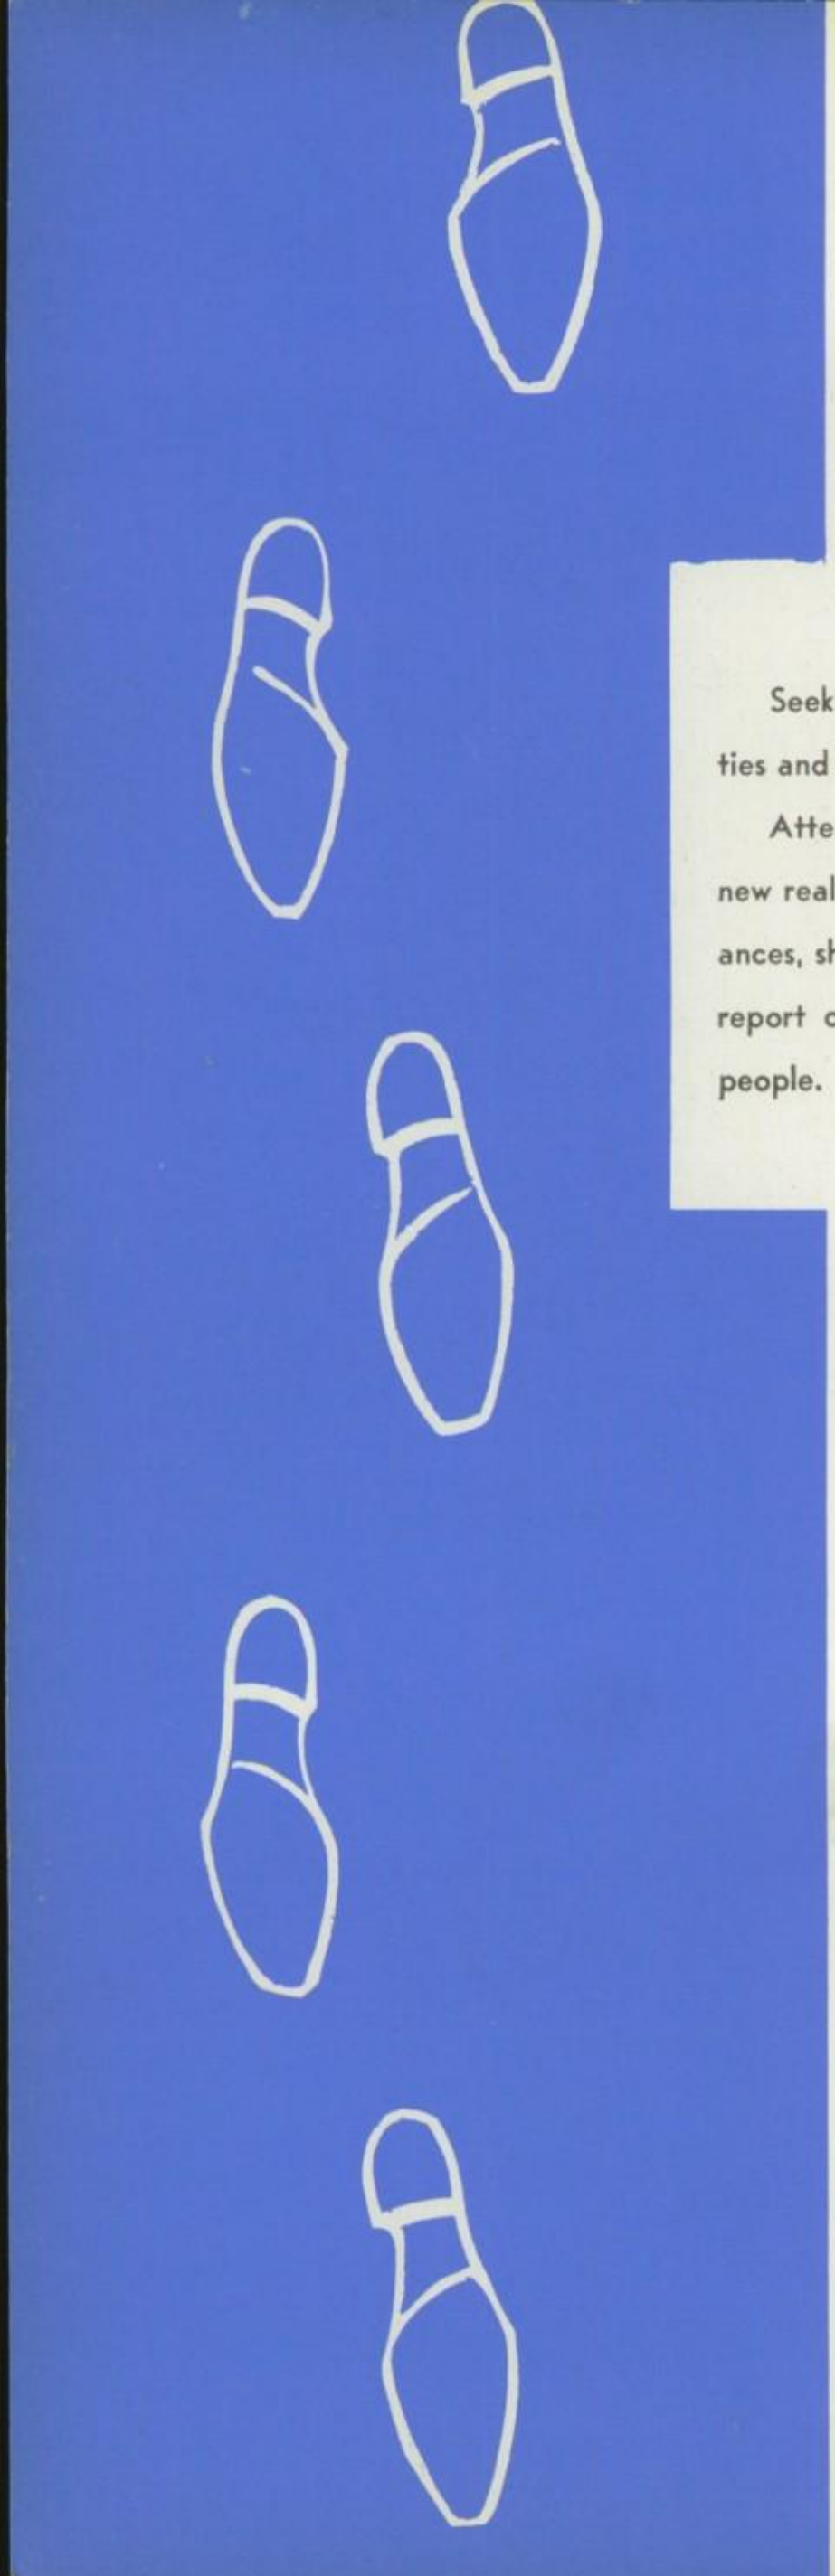
Footsteps are individualistic: the sharp tap of high heels, the gentle squeaking of saddle shoes, the soft tread of tennis shoes, the metallic click of cleated loafers. The rhythm varies. The eager footsteps of a student rushing to lunch combine with the slow, determined strides of the athlete and the light, quick steps of his girl.

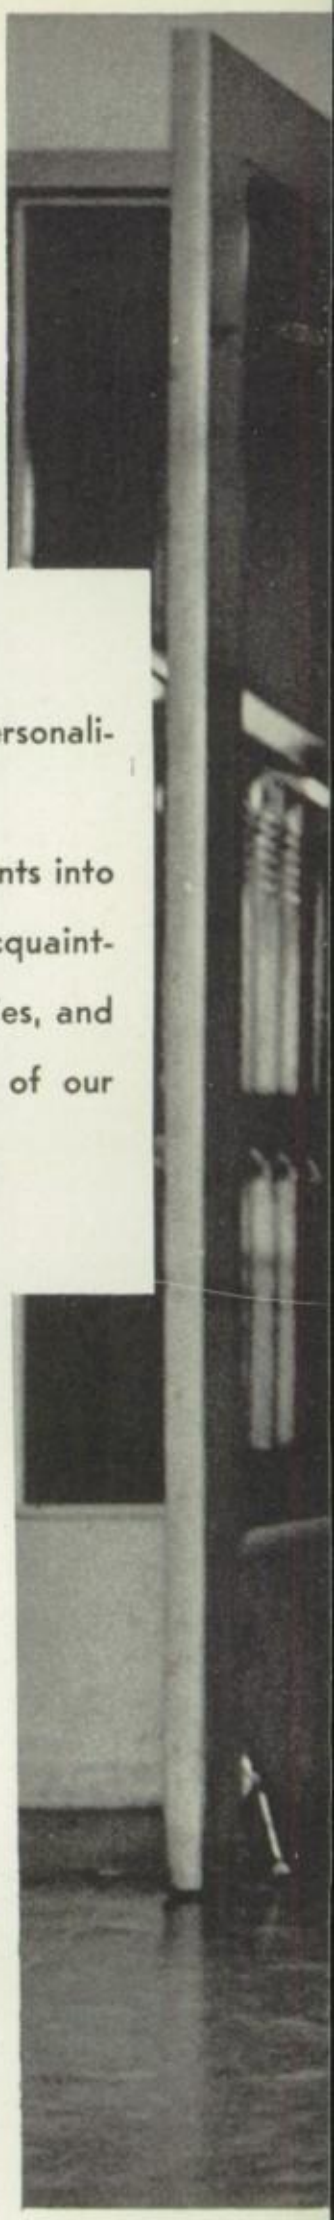
The 1959 Rouser presents the story, the dynamic record, of R-B and its . . .

footsteps . . .



A school's campus — its buildings and surrounding acreage — is an integral part of every community. More than just a dormant physical plant, Riverside-Brookfield High School is an institution surrounded with tradition. With an eye to the latest educational trends, the community has provided the students of R-B with a well-qualified professional staff and the finest in educational equipment and facilities.





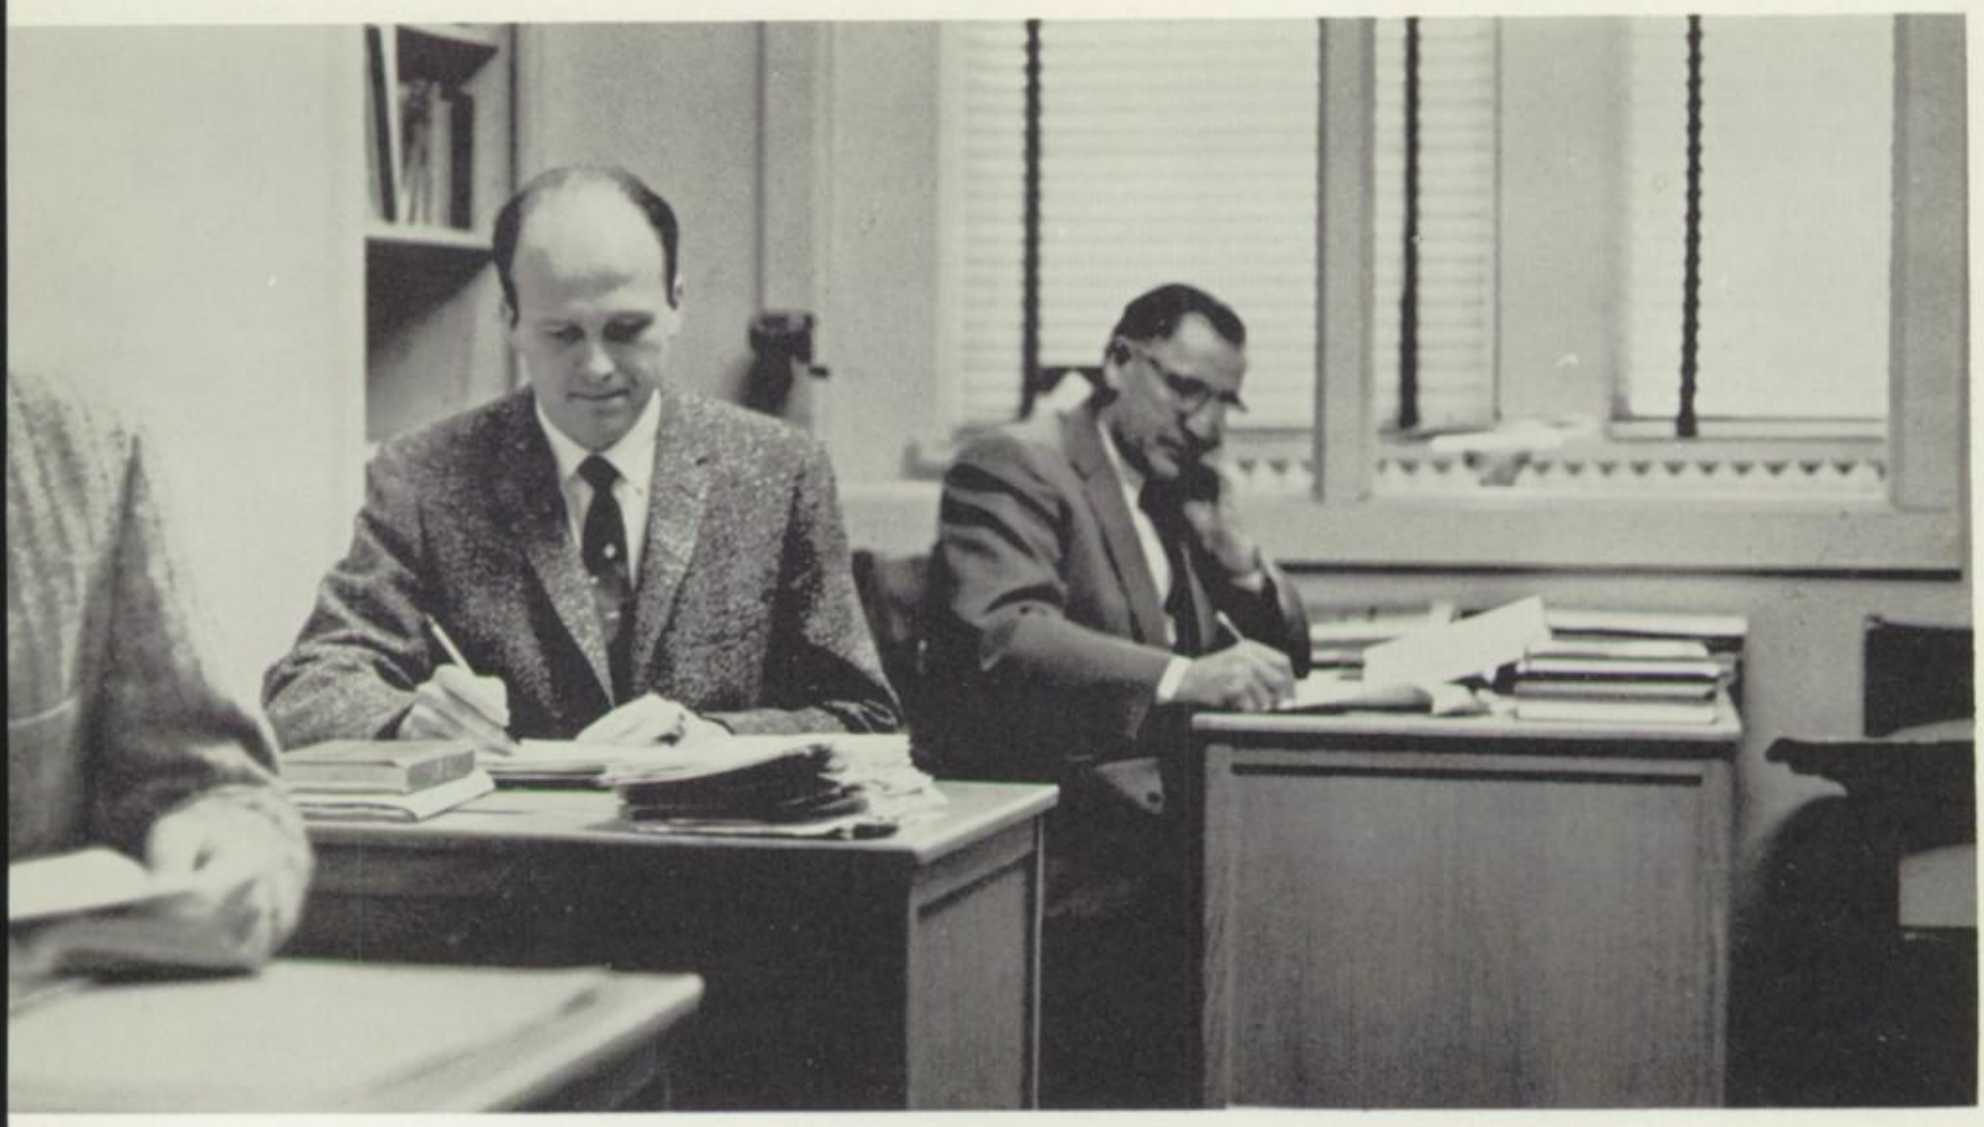
Seeking stepping-stones to a promising future, a blur of personalities and ambitions pass down R-B's corridors.

Attentive faculty and administration members guide students into new realms of educational and social life. Friends and brief acquaintances, sharing a memorable year of sports, after hours activities, and report cards, determine a real meaning in the impressions of our people.

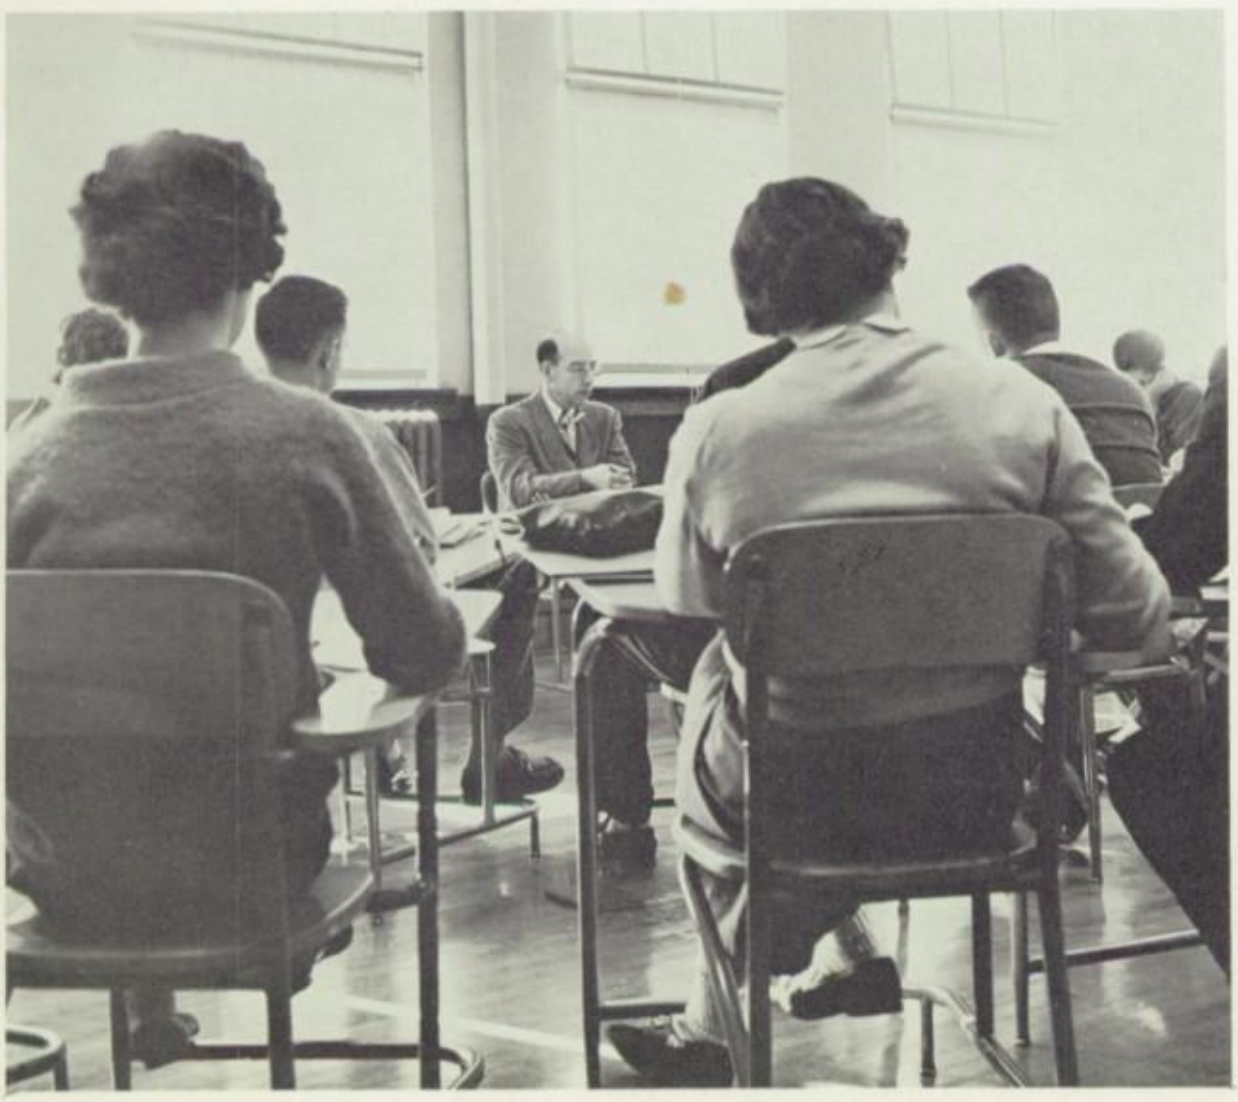
Impressions of Our People

Preparing for a dinner which they will serve in the home economics bungalow are Diana Rut and Carol Izzo.

Mr. Francis Dombrowski of R-B's social science department uses the ditto machine to mimeograph one of his famous exams.



A familiar sight in the mathematics office, Mr. Richard Zborowski, Mr. Paul Nemecek, and Mr. Lee Arthur tabulate the results of recent tests.



Listening intently to Mr. Sanders lecture on "Macbeth" are members of his third hour senior English class.

The BOARD OF EDUCATION met on the first Tuesday of each month to fulfill its responsibility under the law: "To adopt and enforce all necessary rules for the management and government of the public schools in their district."

Mr. Robert W. Murphy, seated at left, is now serving his second term as president of the Board.

The Board, among whose many duties is that of providing adequate space for the faculty and students of R-B, sponsored the recent additions above the music wing and south of the shop wing, in use for the first time this year.

R-B can thank the Board of Education for its fine athletic equipment, including the swimming pool, basketball scoreboard, and new trampolene. In addition, the Board supplied materials for all other departments in the school.

Responsible for hiring teachers and renewing contracts, the Board worked hard to provide the students of R-B with the best in teachers.

Mr. Richard Eldred and Mr. Raymond Oleksy, pictured at left, check the files for credentials of prospective faculty members.

"Nine times a day, one hundred eighty days a year, three thousand three hundred and seventy-four feet are set in motion by R-B's class bells. These multiple millions of footsteps carry the students about their business of growing up, of making friends, of becoming educated.

"Through four years the strides lengthen; the footsteps vary. The street shoes are mixed with football cleats, baseball spikes, gym shoes, tennis shoes, bare feet on the swimming pool deck, the stocking feet at a sock hop, and high heels at the prom.

"At the end of the four years, the footsteps lead from R-B and diverge into the adult paths of the world.

"It is the hope and the work of the staff at R-B that between the converging of the freshman footsteps, and the diverging of the graduate steps from R-B, our students will develop those qualities of mind, character, and spirit that will make their future footsteps sure in purpose, service and happiness."

In Memoriam

It is every coach's dream to produce a winning team, and at R-B Ralph Barclay did just that. Spurred on by Coach Barclay, the cross country and track teams worked their way to a laudable position among the finest teams in the state. The respect and admiration which the team members held for Mr. Barclay was characterized by the 1958 cross country team's presentation to the school of the Ralph Edgar Barclay Memorial Trophy, a trophy to be given to an outstanding runner each season.

Mr. Barclay's death on October 18, 1958, ended a long career in teaching and coaching. Before coming to R-B, "Barc," as he was affectionately known by the faculty, taught and coached for eighteen years in his native Macomb, Illinois. It was at Western State College at Macomb that Mr. Barclay established himself as a great athlete. He earned sixteen major letters, four each in baseball, basketball, football, and track. Mr. Barclay was also a veteran of World War II and the Korean War, and he was a commander in the U. S. Naval Reserves.

Mr. Barclay will be remembered not only as an athletic coach and teacher, but as a man with a great desire to make his students and the boys he coached well-adjusted, fine young adults. As he told his "boys," "You only get out of something what you put into it." There is no doubt that Mr. Barclay's philosophy is true, for he himself led a full and well-adjusted life.

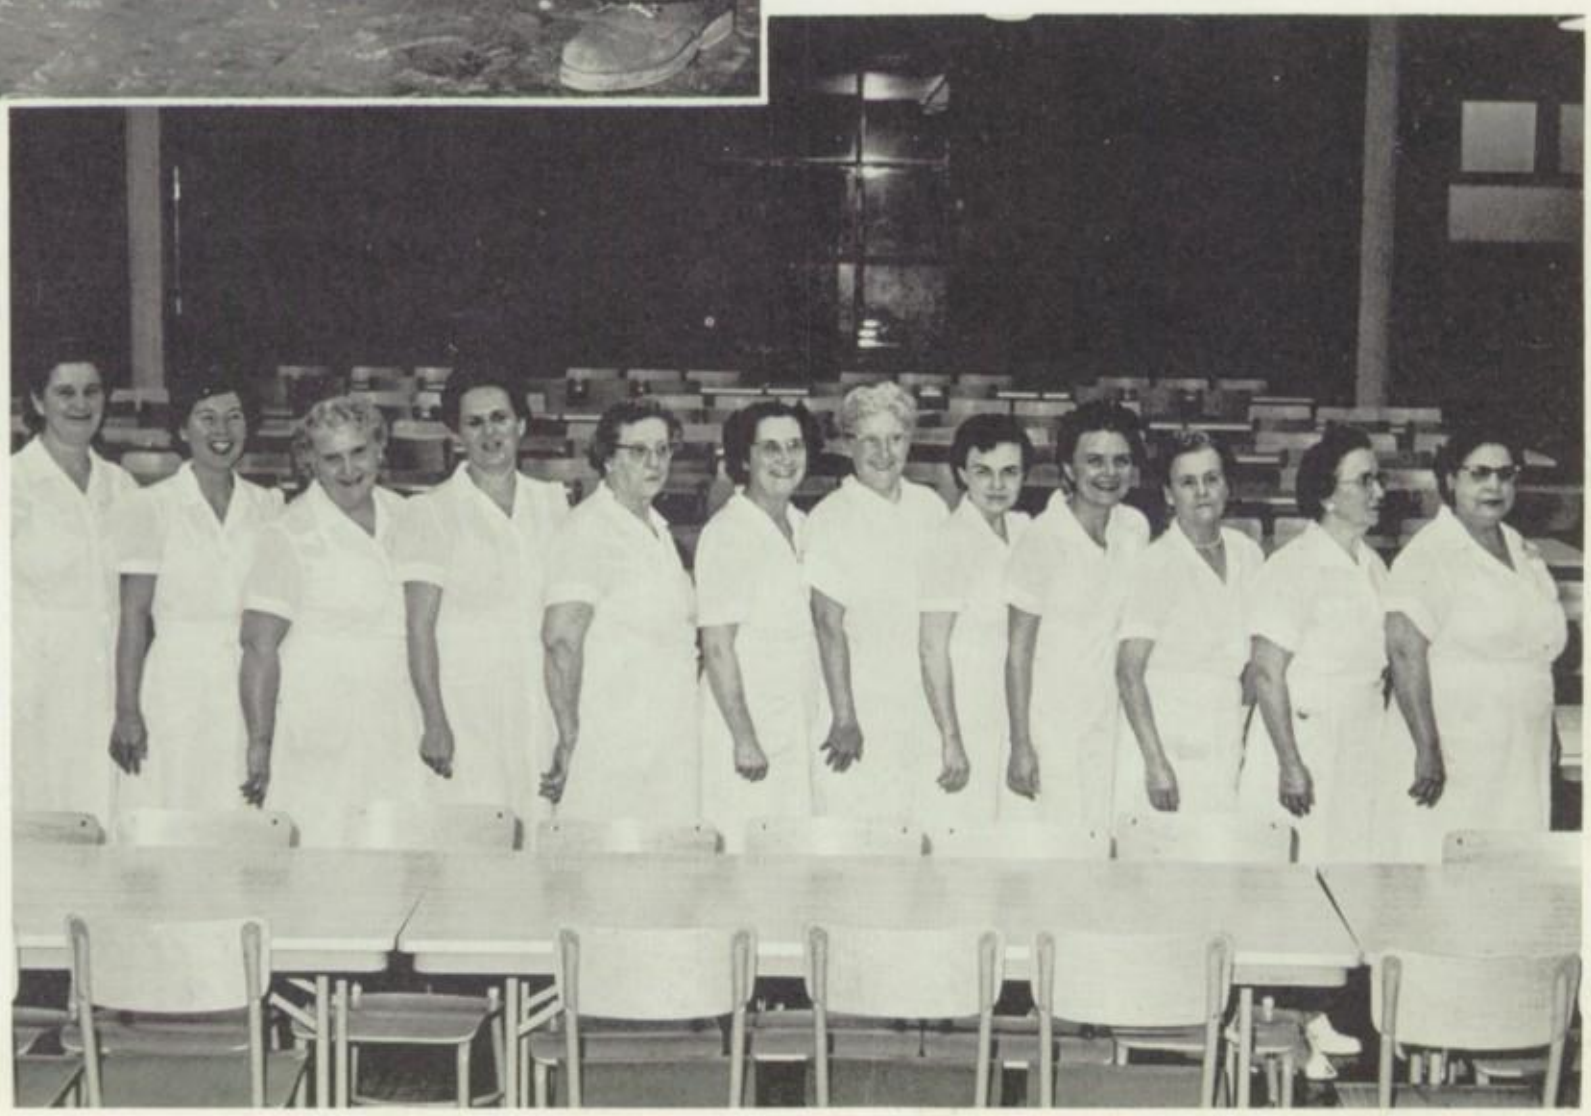
With beater and broom, the COOKS and CUSTODIANS demonstrated themselves to be an integral part of study and pleasure. Their cooperation received student thanks.

Under Miss Ziller's smiling direction, the cafeteria staff prepared replenishing meals daily and served a special Thanksgiving turkey treat. Participants in after hours' dinner programs commended their courteous service.

Gleaming floors reflected the industriousness of R-B's custodians. From moving bleachers or pruning bushes to producing skeleton keys for locked doors, their duties encompassed all phases of school life.

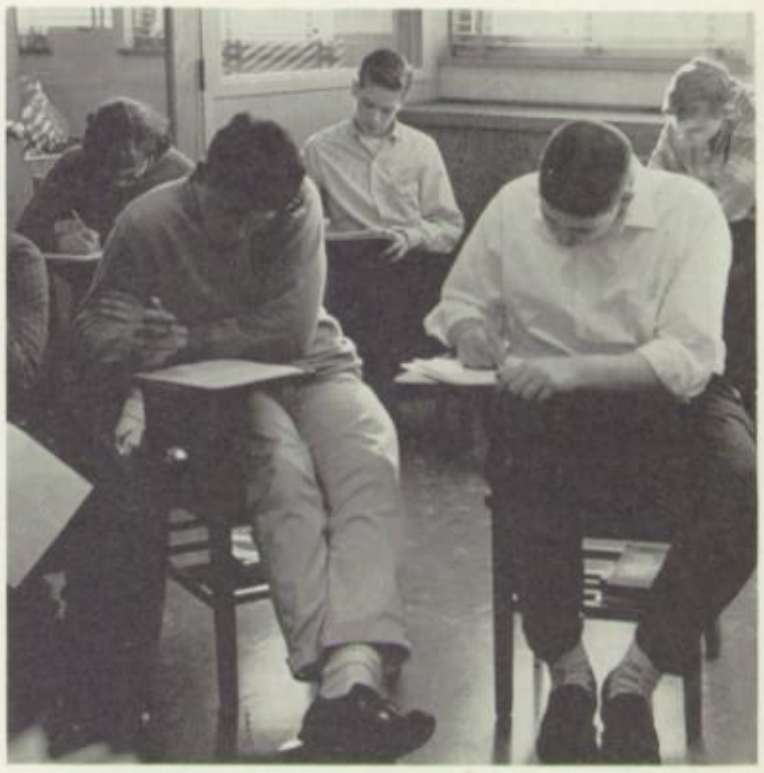
Representing the maintenance staff are custodians Daniel Kelleher, Samuel Siegler, Howard Culver, and Fred Werner.

R-B's "queens of the skillet" are S. Janacek, J. Telizyn, M. Brichacek, S. Bedrava, E. Siedenstrang, E. Wallenta, M. Coakley, M. Siegler, A. Kullen, L. Horsfall, H. Pickrell, and M. Jarvis.



Day by day, hour by hour, student footsteps carried their owners from room to room, class to class. Each student traveled his day's journey seeing familiar faces, fellow classmates. Each day found new friends, discovered more interlocking schedules, and stimulated the friendly greetings that became a pattern in the ensuing year.

Here we follow eight students through their days' patterns. We find them in all departments, with a variety of teachers and educational tools. We see R-B laugh and learn in the broadening sphere of the classroom.



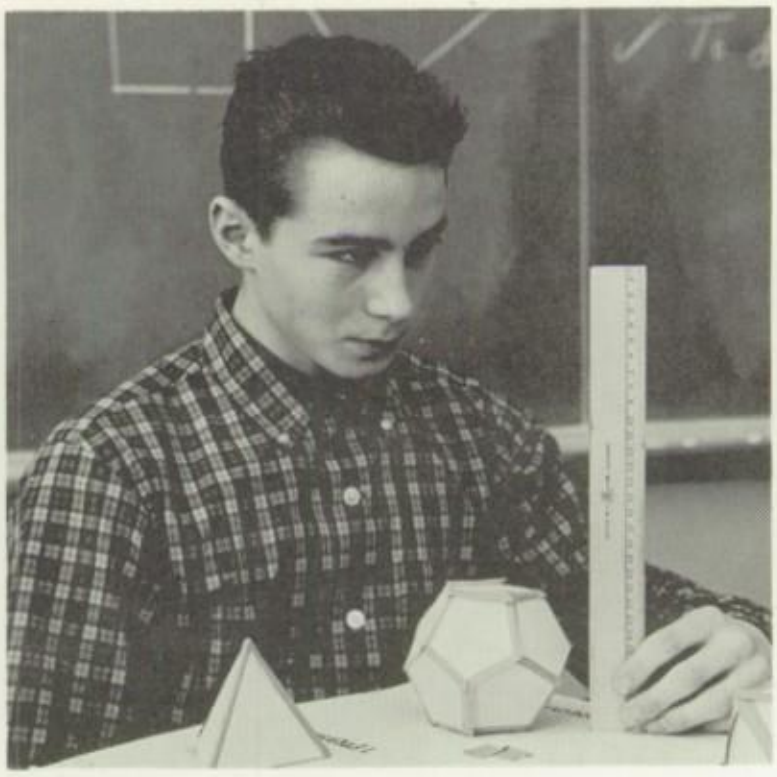
Thoughtfully bending over their desks, Ron Slaby and his classmates consider a social science exam.

Dennis Kelly and Carol Izzo tackle a string problem in psychology class.

Speed and accuracy — Betty Fogg learns the typing goals as she enjoys fingertip aptitude.

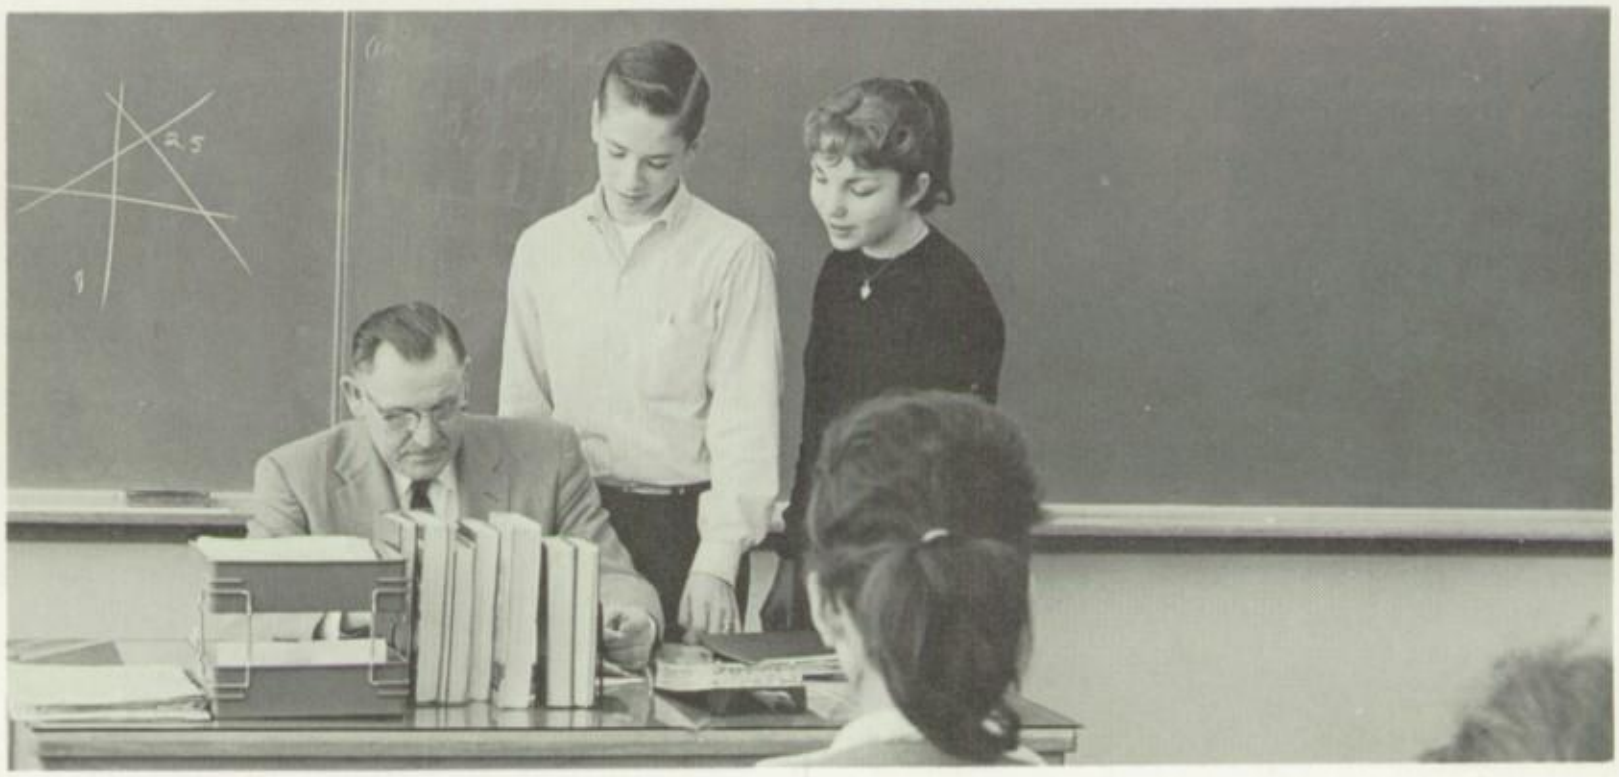
Library Aide Pat Dick assists Dennis Kelly in his search for reference materials.

Biology students Al Strunc, Marilyn Polulach, and Patti Ashworth listen as Jeff Ball explains his project.



Angles and surfaces are measured by the scrutinizing eye of Al Strunc.

Teachers are helpful individuals or so learn confused algebra students Ron Slaby and Vicki Vala.



Eager to hit that birdie are Betty Fogg, Joyce Reynolds, and Cathy Beranich.

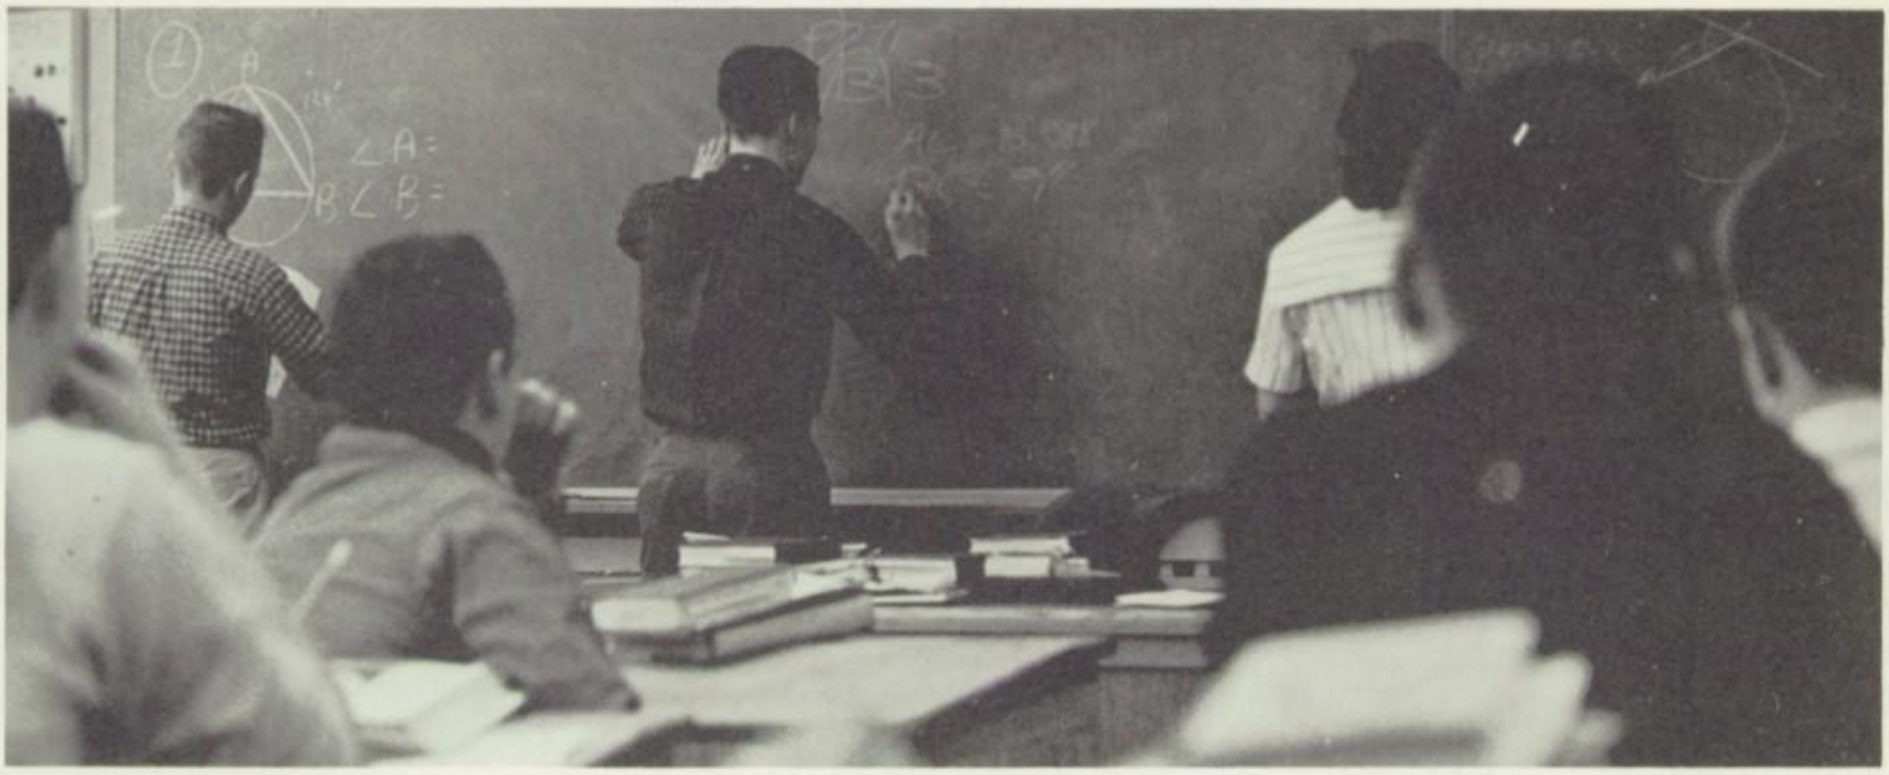

Exhibiting skill in the field of mathematics, Al Strunc records a proof on the blackboard.

The mystery of chemistry tempts Allen Kasper and Harold King into the world of acids and test tubes.

Marilyn Polulach's creative cookery is rewarded with admiring glances from her classmates.

Juanita Scott discovers the humor of a Spanish handshake as Dwight Mey and Bill Waitek demonstrate.

Dennis Kelly absorbs one of Mr. Sanders' English literature lectures.

Questions are answered by language teacher Miss Broom as puzzled Harold King listens intently.

Betty Fogg makes good use of the study time allotted her in English class.

Listening to the discussion from his back-row seat, Harold King hears a variety of ideas expressed.

"Congratulations," says Mr. Thompson as he presents Leila Gratchner with her National Honor Society pin.

Conferring with senior counselor Miss Hine, Mary Ann Moticka plans for the future.

Class of 1959 enjoyed special

Waiting their turn are Bob Stocking and Beverly Brown as Miss Pinkerton and Miss Smith measure Diane Wilson for her cap and gown.

Senior year, with all its responsibilities and privileges, beckoned the class of 1959 into a whirlwind world of activities and classes. Team sports were paced by senior athletes. Publications and organizations needed expert leadership. Bundle Drive, Homecoming, dances — all claimed senior participation.

Then time became precious as high school days slowly dwindled away. Memorable moments were relived on class night and spiritual inspiration was instilled in the future graduates at Baccalaureate. Then, as a climax to their high school years, the 1959 senior class of Riverside-Brookfield High School disbanded as each member accepted his diploma and became an individual facing the challenge of the future.

National Honor Society

Jacqueline Patzelt, Valedictorian

Culminating four years of work and service, thirty-three outstanding students of the senior class were honored with membership in the NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY. Candidates for the honor were selected by the R-B faculty on the basis of their character, scholarship, leadership, and service. Initiates pledged to uphold the ideals of the society at a student assembly followed by a tea for their parents. For those so honored, membership in National Honor Society was a fitting climax to four successful years at R-B.

to jobs, college, marriage

Leading the junior class through an activity-filled year are Treasurer Sharon McHugh, President Harry Genant, Vice president Roger Stedronsky, Business Manager Glen Hess, Sponsor Miss Wilson, and Secretary Karen Fisher.

Successfully meeting with the problems of advanced algebra and chemistry and doing justice to the privilege of being leaders as upperclassmen, the juniors showed R-B and the community what an enterprising group they were.

Combining their efforts, juniors displayed class unity as they worked together for an enchanting prom. With unlimited enthusiasm they swiftly progressed toward their ultimate goal. Collecting papers and selling Christmas cards all went to make this year's Palmer House prom an outstanding one.

In Memoriam

In December, 1958, R-B suffered the loss of one of its junior students, Richard Quitsch. Seventeen year old Dick was taken from us by an untimely attack of leukemia. But, although he is now gone from our physical world, he is in essence still with us. Not a day goes by that we don't see displayed in others some of the wonderful traits that were so much a part of Dick's character.

Dick Quitsch might be summed up as a young man standing for the ideals of courage, honesty, sportsmanship, and just plain good living. Because he represented these ideals in so many ways, it is almost impossible for R-B students to live from day to day without being constantly reminded of Dick in some way or another.

Although Dick has left this life for the ultimate one, his memory will surely live on among us.

The sophomore class displayed enthusiasm, initiative, and capability throughout the year.

Tackling the Bundle Drive and entering whole-heartedly into interesting new subjects served to illustrate the enthusiasm of R-B's second largest class.

The sophomores exhibited initiative working on School Council and sponsoring a stationery sale.

Outstanding classroom and athletic performance expressed their capability. Students waded through "Julius Caesar" and "Idylls of the King" in English. Athletes strove to excel in Frosh-Soph competition.

In classroom and club, each sophomore enthusiastically worked to make his class a united and outstanding body.

Exhibiting ingenuity, school spirit, and a sense of responsibility, the freshmen took an active part in school affairs.

With the development of a new maturity, the freshmen soon gained the respect and friendship of the entire student body. They showed real enthusiasm in making their spring dance a big success and in working tirelessly on the bundle drive.

Indeed, the freshman class deserves a round of applause for completing so admirably, both in and out of the classroom, what could well be considered the most challenging year at R-B.

The privileges and responsibilities which accompany our social and academic activities help to create a foundation for our future careers, to develop our personalities, and to assist us in enjoying the companionship of others.

At the all-Language Club Christmas Party, the Big and Little Sister Picnic, the Prom, and the many other events, R-B students formulated interpretations of their activities.

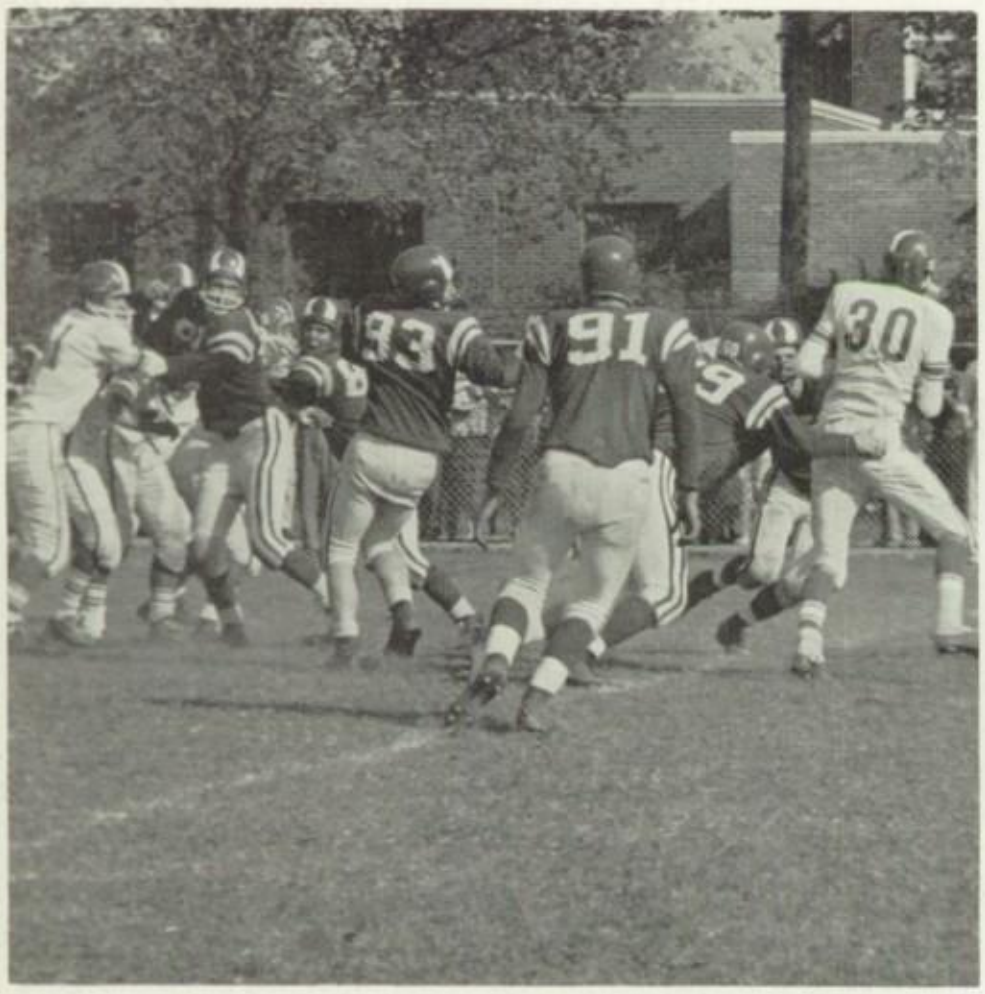
Interpretations of Our Activities

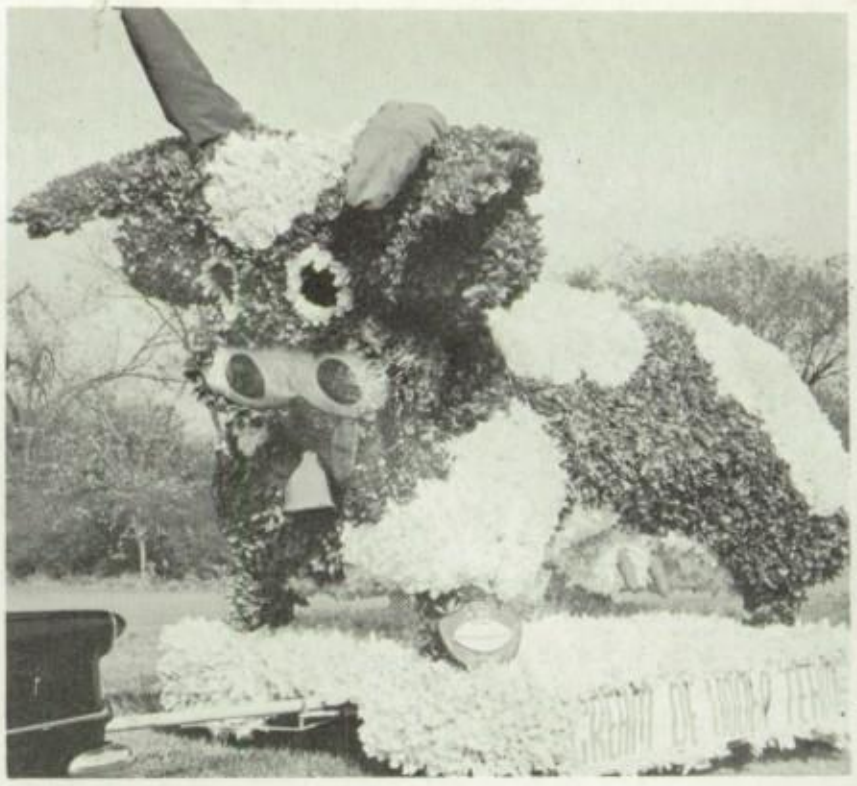
With a shrill blast of her whistle and a rhythmic step of her foot, drum major Barbara Bartunek leads the band in a precision half-time drill.

Fervently rushing to meet their deadlines, publications staff members Richard Weddle, Kathy Hede, Gail Neuman, and Charlene Jakopec type their copy.

Cheery in spite of the rain, big sisters Mary Jo Henderson, Judy Mottl, Linda McGrath, and Linda Mayer entertain their little sisters at the Big and Little Sister Picnic.

The tension of the moment reflected in their faces, R-B's Homecoming Court, Ann Leffer, Lynn Cooper, Pixie Beery-Polglase, Rosemary Stolfa, and Janet Slomka, plead for that extra point.





The senior girls' float, "Beat The Udder Team," wins top honors in a field of stiff competition.

Cheered on by an enthusiastic crowd, R-B's Bulldogs battled their way to victory over Hinsdale.

highlighted fall activities

HOMECOMING for 1958 served as one of the high points of the school year. The tradition-filled weekend began with the pep rally, followed by the lighting of the immense bonfire by the newly crowned Queen. As the bonfire burned brightly, excited students snake danced through the crowd.

Saturday's excitement began with the parade of beautifully decorated floats, representing many hours of hard work. The game, with its confetti and streamers, proved to be a thrilling one as eager spectators cheered the Bulldogs on to victory over Hinsdale.

The Council sponsored dance, Intercepted Interlude, brought the event filled weekend to a close.

Homecoming attendants Rosemary Stolfa, Janet Slomka, Ann Leffer, and Lynn Cooper surround their queen, Pixie Beery-Polglase.

Accomplished in precision, the BAND exhibited musical and marching talent on the athletic field, and displayed harmonic skills on the auditorium stage.

Under the baton of Mr. Harold Collins, director of instrumental music, the eighty-five musicians presented winter and spring concerts and assisted in various community celebrations. Their selections included sonatas and concertos as well as traditional marches. Entry in the state music contest offered opportunities for the band, and for soloists and ensembles as well.

Basketball games featured R-B's pep band, playing popular tunes. At pep assemblies, the rousing notes of the band's rendition of the school song followed a musical allegiance to the flag.

Violinists Gail Kubic and Judy Bousa rehearse for the annual spring Music Festival.

With a sweep of the hand and a twirl of the baton, Mr. Harold Collins directed the R-B ORCHESTRA through a successful musical year.

The orchestra, comprised of four main divisions, the harmonic strings, the staccato woodwinds, the thundering brass, and the resounding percussions, performed at the spring Music Festival and at the sixth annual West Suburban Conference Music Festival. In addition, certain of its soloists and ensembles participated in state and district music contests.

Talented students effectively

With the benefits of capable leadership and accompaniment, the choir rehearses for the spring concert.

The voices of seventy-four students, blended in flowing harmony, made the A CAPPELLA CHOIR an outstanding music group.

The songsters assisted Hi-Y in Thanksgiving and Easter services and sparked a festive feeling at their annual Christmas concert. Participation in the West Suburban Conference Music Festival at Downers Grove followed a spring tour of neighboring grade schools. The choir joined R-B's choral and instrumental groups in the spring Music Festival and closed a busy year by singing at Baccalaureate and Commencement.

The members of USHER CLUB collected tickets and issued programs at Masque and Wig plays and numerous band and choral concerts. Their assistance at the Baccalaureate and Commencement exercises terminated the year's activities.

Guided by their sponsor, Mrs. Heller, these junior and senior girls gained the appreciation of the entire school for their willing services.

Discussing last minute instructions for ushering at the Talent Show are Susan Towne, Dian Wilson, and Sponsor Mrs. Heller.

Displaying leadership and sportsman-like conduct, the members of LETTERMEN'S CLUB assisted at the pep rallies and home basketball games. These boys dutifully fulfilled their responsibilities of ushering, checking coats, and maintaining order.

Only boys who had received their letter by participating in a sport were eligible for membership in the club. Sponsors Mr. Leggett and Mr. Lossin led the Lettermen in promoting better relations between conference schools.

Providing audio-visual aid for school functions and taking care of the lighting, scenery changing, and the electrical end of all productions was the job of R-B's eight STAGE TECHNICIANS. Under the supervision of their sponsor, Mr. Schaefer, they devoted their time and efforts to help make various sports events, concerts, lyceums, plays, and other similar productions a success.

The MOVIE OPERATORS assisted teachers by setting up apparatus, showing movies, and transporting special equipment. Under the sponsorship of Mr. Kutcosky, the boys contributed their time to further student education.

Helping students to find lost articles, checking absentees, and assisting bewildered freshmen, the fourteen OFFICE ASSISTANTS aided R-B in many ways. It was their job to take messages to students all over the school and generally assist Mrs. Arnold as they devoted one study hall a day to service.

This year sixteen girls devoted their time and efforts one hour each day to assist the school nurse, Miss Suchy. The jobs of the NURSE'S ASSISTANTS ranged from running errands and doing clerical work to aiding students with minor illnesses and injuries.

Contributing greatly to the efficient functioning of the library, the twenty-nine LIBRARY AIDES assisted Mrs. Broe and Miss Brainerd, their sponsors, in keeping the library in smooth running order. Their special activities consisted of a fall picnic, a Christmas party, a tea for the girls' mothers, and a party for the graduating aides.

The PUBLIC RELATIONS STAFF, new this year, consisted of four senior girls who devoted their time and efforts to publicize and promote school activities by submitting news releases to local newspapers. The staff members were chosen by Mr. Mohrhusen, their sponsor, because of their background in journalism and news writing.

The staff members of SCOPE, working on the second yearly edition, devoted their after school hours each Thursday to produce a high quality student literary magazine.

Under the sponsorship of Mr. Gard, these R-Bites read, evaluated, and edited student manuscripts as they compiled R-B's literary efforts. Divided into three working bodies, the business staff, publications staff, and reading staff, the members of Scope completed a meritable magazine, providing fine reading material for students.

The ROUSER STAFF, working closely with Sponsor Mr. Mohrhusen, presented the 1959 yearbook to the student body with great pride and satisfaction.

The staff members had the invaluable experience of working on a full-scale publication. Many times resourcefulness and frayed nerves were strained towards the ends of the three deadlines. However, with the vision of a completed Rouser ever present, the staff strove even harder to fulfill their aspirations.

In June the labored hours and gray hairs were temporarily forgotten as the staff dined royally at the annual Awards Night festivities.

The CLARION STAFF, under the sponsorship of Miss Brakken, worked industriously to produce a bi-weekly newspaper. Members of the journalism class served as editors and provided expert counsel for other staff personnel.

The entire staff had ample practice in editing, copyreading, and writing headlines, as well as the actual writing of copy. This enabled the students to become acquainted with many facits of the newspaper world. The staff members also gained additional information and learned new journalistic techniques through field trips taken during the year.

Every active SHARCLUB girl collected swarms of souvenirs from a beehive of activities. Under capable chairmen, the publicity, invitations, decorations, refreshments, charities, and entertainment committees cooperated to produce such spectaculars as the record setting Bundle Drive and an enchanting "Nuit a Paris."

Because all girls automatically become Sharclub members on entering R-B, the governing board planned a Big and Little Sister Tea and Picnic to acquaint the freshmen girls with their new surroundings. President Pixie Beery-Polglase, Vice president Rosemary Stolfa, Secretary Tracy Byrom, and Treasurer Ginger Schiel received suggestions from Miss Michael and Miss Broom, co-sponsors. In the spring new Senate members accepted golden keys for scholarship, leadership, dependability, service, and charity.

The theme of the popular masquerade dinner, "When I Grow Up," lent itself to the wild imaginations of future cave men and school teachers. The proceeds from colorful Bow Day, an all school event, sent a generous contribution to the Red Cross.

MASQUE AND WIG provided an opportunity for theatrical expression for all juniors and seniors. At the monthly meetings, the members learned about make-up techniques and various styles of acting.

Under the direction of Mr. Cohen, this organization presented two outstanding plays. "The Royal Family," a Broadway hit dealing with the off-stage lives of the fiery Barrymore family and written by Edna Ferber and George Kaufman, was presented in the Little Theater in November. The comedy hit, "The Man Who Came To Dinner," written by George Kaufman and Moss Hart was staged in late May.

Upon completing one semester of a home economics course, any girl becomes eligible to participate in the activities of the HOME ECONOMICS CLUB, sponsored by Miss Pinkerton and Mrs. Strunk. To further interest and appreciation for all phases of home economics, members participated in a number of activities, prepared for teas and bake sales. In the fall, the special initiation and pot-luck supper introduced the club to a prosperous new season.

Sponsor Miss Pinkerton offers Judy Benes and Christine Karth helpful hints on gift wrapping.

Promoting interest in secretarial work, SCRIBBLERS encouraged its members to explore the business field beyond their classroom studies. Their activities included watching demonstrations of business machines, receiving guest speakers, and holding a mother-daughter tea. Students who had received one credit in any business course were welcome to participate in these activities.

Sponsor Miss Hewitt, and officers Lorraine Huebner, Carol Vascik, Karen Steiger, and Donnajean Jeppesen combined their efforts to make this season a successful one.

The popularity of the GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION was demonstrated by the large attendance at its various activities. The 400 members, under the leadership of Miss Flora, assisted by Miss Garland, Miss Wilkens, Miss Morvis, and Mrs. Greene, accomplished the club's aim to stimulate interest and participation in a variety of sports ranging from swimming, hockey, and tennis to volleyball, archery, and bowling.

To attain membership in this organization, each girl accumulated a total of twenty-five points through her attendance at athletic activities.

Many special events were enjoyed during the year, including picnics, pizza parties, a father-daughter play party, an initiation tea, and a mother-daughter award banquet.

The SABRINA SWIM CLUB, organized this year, was designed to further interest in synchronized and ballet swimming. To attain membership, the girls were required to take and pass try-out examinations. Meetings, held whenever the pool was available, were periods of companionable fun, as well as accomplishment.

Under the leadership of Miss Wilkens and Miss Garland, a great deal was achieved in perfecting the many difficult executions, routines, and intriguing maneuvers of water ballet.

under leadership of new coach

The hard crack of conditioned sinew and muscle, the fans cheering wildly in the stands, the exuberance of victory, and the depression of defeat — all this brings back memories of that most wonderful time of the year at R-B, the football season.

The VARSITY FOOTBALL TEAM, led by co-captains Rich Jarom and John Patterson and coached by Mr. Perkins, Mr. DeWild, and Mr. Kmieciak, developed into a smoothly operating, tough squad of athletes.

Displaying the "heart" that makes real champions, R-B's "finest" highlighted the season with a Homecoming win over the Demons of Hinsdale and gained recognition through the election of John Holland and Patterson to the West Suburban All-Conference team.

R-B's FROSH-SOPH FOOTBALL TEAM, striving to emulate the success of the varsity eleven, drove themselves to the limit, both in practice and in competition. Learning new plays, scrimmaging with the juniors and seniors, toughening up the line, and increasing in team unity and spirit, the Frosh-Soph readied themselves for the task of taking over as the varsity team of '60. Sparking the team was captain Bob MacLean. Coaching were Mr. Lossin and Mr. Halverson.

Backed by rejuvenated school spirit and the excellent tutoring of Coach DeWild, R-B's VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM surged ahead to rack up a successful season. Paced by their high-scoring captain, Rich Jarom, the R-B five proved to be a tough competitor in a high-rated conference.

Through the experience gained in interscholastic competition, the JUNIOR VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM established itself as a promising and upcoming squad. Boasting height and speed, the JV's gave R-B's future basketball prospects a boost.

Conscientiously training for every meet, R-B's CROSS COUNTRY TEAM pounded through the Forest Preserve area, striving to improve their timing. The harriers climaxed a successful season by winning the St. Charles Invitational Meet, and then went on to take a fourth in the Conference Track Meet. Rich Fisera showed outstanding form in winning first place in the conference race. Fisera's victory was marred, however, by the unfortunate death of Coach Ralph Barclay, who suffered a heart attack at this meet.

R-B's Frogmen

November through February, R-B's VARSITY SWIMMING TEAM tirelessly trained under the careful watch of Coach Perkins. Night after night could be heard the sound of rhythmic kicking and the commanding voice of the coach, demanding the best from his boys.

Led by able captains Jim Verhoeven and George Vrhel, the team brought in a highly creditable record of eleven wins and three losses. The Bullfrogs placed seventh in the state meet as George Vrhel captured fifth place in the one hundred yard backstroke while the medley relay team of George Vrhel, Jim Schuler, Cliff Gramer, and Jim Verhoeven placed second.

The FROSH-SOPH SWIMMING TEAM, coached by Mr. Halverson and captained by Buzz Miller, improved on strokes and prepared for varsity competition. The Tadpoles finished the season with a record of eight wins and six losses.

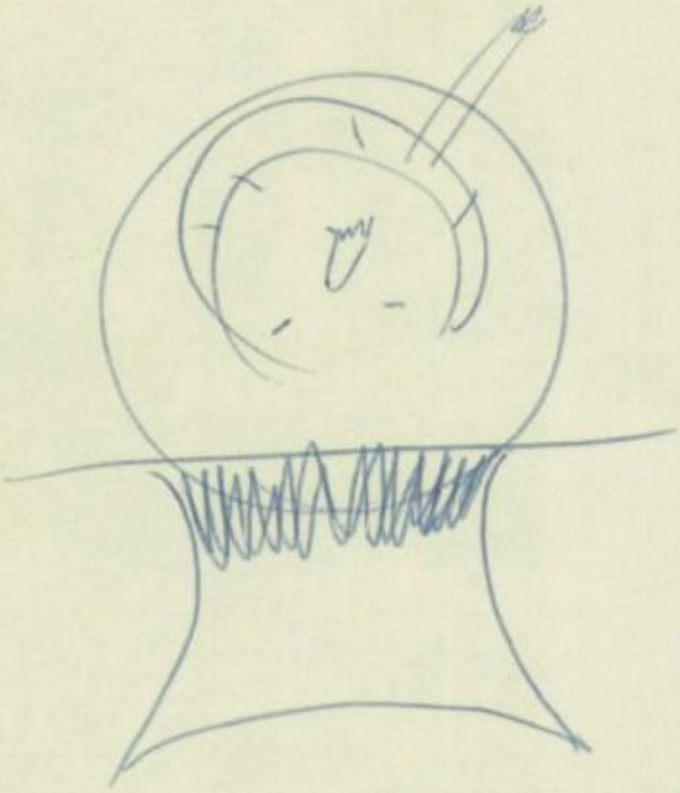
Dear Penny,
Loads of luck to a real sweet girl. I hope to have you in some classes next year also. Have a real sharp time this summer.

Love
Barb
Tomilla



Dear Penny,
I really appreciate you taking care of me at the picnic.
You're really a fab ulous girl and I hope we get in some classes together. Love,
Sharon

Penny
You're not worth 2 cents, but just a penny but the best penny & forever known. Best Wishes
Len Rozes

Penny,
Its been fun!!
See you next year.
Remember the "peach color"
Love, Lynn K.
